In-house legal advisor for European legal team

Ref: 21612164

Sensata Technologies is a New York Stock Exchange listed company specialising in the engineering and manufacturing of sensors and sensing technologies for multiple applications. Our business focus includes automotive and heavy truck, industrial sensing applications, controls products and aerospace.

The European legal team supports over 20 operating companies in 8 key European jurisdictions and is also involved in group projects of a global or pan-European nature. This is a full time, permanent role initially based in our Northern Ireland office, which is a short 20 minute drive from Belfast and with easy access to the North Antrim coastline and surrounding areas of outstanding natural beauty. For the right candidate a transfer to our Hengelo office in the Eastern part of Holland and near the German border may also be an option over time.

The primary focus of this role is to review and provide commercial contract advice over the European region and to support corporate secretarial and other group projects the legal team is involved in. Main duties will include:

- Reviewing NDAs & commercial contracts and providing quick, accurate and on point advice to commercial teams and stakeholders;
- Investigating and researching a variety of legal issues across Europe;
- Monitoring legislation change nationally and at a European level;
- Summarising large quantities of information and drafting executive summary briefing notes;
- Training commercial teams on red flag issues and helping develop learning and know-how;
- Supporting other legal activity, as required.

Essential Skills

- Legal degree from a reputable university in Europe;
- Ability to provide legal advice in a commercial and clear manner to various stakeholders;
- Good communication skills, professional attitude and ability to work within a small team to commercial deadlines;
- Ability to oversee specific projects and input on legal issues as part of a project team;
- English and German languages.

Desirable Skills

Qualified lawyer up to 5 years PQE level - we will look at candidates qualified in any of UK / Ireland / Germany / Holland for this role. Applications from German/Dutch qualified lawyers with good results in both State exams (for Germany) and an LLM ideally from an Anglophone university are encouraged. Exceptional candidates who have not yet formally qualified as a lawyer but who have relevant academics or European commercial law or paralegal experience with fluency in German and English languages will also be considered.

We offer a competitive salary and benefits package and are an equal opportunities employer.

Please note that all successful candidates must undergo a medical examination which includes a drugs test. To apply for this role, please submit your application via the portal below or by email to Lisa Gepp at lgepp@sensata.com who can also be contacted for more information.
